Cleveland 3-New York 2.

New York, May 30.—(Special.)—The series just finished between New York and Cleveland was by long odds the grandest ever seen in this city. The two teams split even today, the Giants winning the morning game and the Spiders the afternoon contest. The attendance at both broke all base ball records, 24,500 persons being present this afternoon and 8,000 this morning. Without a doubt the afternoon game was one of the grandest ever seen on any ball field. For eleven innings the two teams struggled desperately for supremacy. No more brilliant fielding was ever seen than these teams put up, and no sooner would one outburst of applause begin to die out than there would be another outbreak. To McGarr belongs the credit of winning the game. His work at third has seldom been excelled, and at three different stages he saved the Spiders from defeat, and then in the eleventh made the hit which sent O'Connor across the plate with the winning run. But for Ewing's muff of Davis' fly in the seventh the visitors would have won in nine innings. As it was, "Buck's" error gave the Giants two runs.

Clarkson fairly outdid himself. He held the home team down to four safe hits, and German did finely after the first inning, and fiddled his position in magnificent style. Had the Cleveleans lost this game they could, with good reason, have shouted hard luck.

The morning game was witnessed by 8,000 people, more than ever saw a morning game on Decoration day here before. This was a beautifully played contest. Cuppy pitched ball that would win nine games out of ten, but he had opposed to him that strong armed Hoosier boy, Amos Rusie, who was in good form and held the visitors down to three singles. He also helped to win his own game with the bat. The score was a tie for seven innings. Then Mike Tiernan got in a three-bagger to center, which McAlcer would have caught easily, sending Ward home with the winning run. Zimmer, McKean, Ewing, Murphy, Farrell and Van Haltron made phenomenal plays. Childs led off the afternoon game with a single to left and Burkett followed with one to center. Murphy fumbled McKean's grounder and Childs scored. Ewing hit for two bases to center, sending Burkett across the plate. German fumbled Tebeau's grounder and the bases were filled. O'Connor fled out to Ward. Zimmer struck out and McGarr fled out to Burkett. Murphy started for New York by lining out a single to left. Davis fled out to Childs. Doyle to Burkett and Van Haltron to O'Connor. The visitors went up against it in the second. Clarkson, Childs and Burkett being retired on great fielding by Davis and German. Tebeau got a two-bagger in the third but was left. Nobody reached first until the fifth, when Tiernan got there on balls, but was caught napping by Clarkson. In the sixth Murphy made one of the most phenomenal catches and long throws of Ewing's apparently safe grounder ever seen on these grounds. Tebeau was hit by a pitched ball and went to second on O'Connor's out at first. Zimmer hit in front of the plate and Farrell threw him out.

After McGarr and Clarkson had gone out Childs and Burkett got their base on balls. The fourth ball on the latter went past Farrell, and he made no effort to get it, as he thought the ball touched Burkett's uniform and that it was dead. Childs ran to third and Burkett to second, but they were left, as McKean sent a grounder to Doyle and was out at first. In New York's half of the inning Davis started with a long fly to right, which Ewing at first misjudged and then muffed close to the center, and the ball went into the crowd, and Davis was on third before it was recovered. Doyle sent a grounder to McGarr, who tried to catch Davis off third, but failed, and Doyle was safe as well. Van Haltron bunted to Tebeau and was out, Davis scoring on Childs' reaching second. Doyle then made a noble rushing act of third. Tebeau came rushing in, but was held as a holed lobster. He argued with Umpire Lynch for several minutes. Ward sent a high bouncer over Clarkson's head, and Doyle tied the score. Ward, a moment later, was caught off first by a quick throw by Clarkson. Tiernan followed with a two-bagger to center, and Burkett fled out to Childs, who made a running catch in short right field.

In the eighth Ewing went out to Doyle, unassisted; Tebeau smashed a corking two-bagger to left. O'Connor hit by Davis, who caught Tebeau between third and second, but Ward muffed and Tebeau cut to third. Zimmer fled out to Ward. As O'Connor started to steal second Farrell threw down to Ward and Tebeau made for the plate. Ward returned the ball in time to catch Patsy easily. It was out in regular order for New York.

McGarr led off in the ninth with a single to center and was sacrificed to second by Clarkson. Childs hit to Murphy, who caught McGarr off second, and he was run down, being finally put out by German. Burkett's weak grounder in front of the plate was taken care of by Farrell and Doyle. New York's New York Davis got his base on balls, but was forced out at second, McGarr to Childs. Van Haltron fled to left, Ward singled to center, Doyle reaching third, and Ward caught second on the throw in. A hit now meant victory for the Giants, but the best Tiernan could do was to send a grounder to McGarr and go out.

In the tenth McKean fled out to Van Haltron. Ewing drove a terrific line drive to left center, which Van Haltron, by fast sprinting, caught off the ropes. Tebeau was retired, Ward to Doyle. For New York, Burke fled out to Childs. Farrell reached first on balls, and got third on a wild pitch, Zimmer losing the ball. German sent a grounder to McGarr, who threw Farrell out at the plate. Murphy fled out to McGarr.

O'Connor led off in the eleventh with a slow one toward third and reached first. Zimmer hit to Ward, who threw wildly to Murphy at second, and all hands were safe. A wild pitch advanced each runner a base. McGarr singled to center and O'Connor scored. Clarkson bunted toward first, but German got the ball in time to catch Zimmer at the plate. Childs hit to Murphy, who threw Clarkson out at second, and Ward, by a quick throw, caught McGarr off third, completing a pretty double play. For New York, Davis went out to Tebeau. McGarr made a great running catch of Doyle's foul fly. Van Haltron fled out to Childs and it was all over.

New York 2-Cleveland 1.

In the morning game after two men were out McKean hit safely to right and reached second on Tiernan's fumble. Ewing walked to first on balls and Tebeau got there safely on Davis' fumble. O'Connor then forced Tebeau out, Murphy to Ward. For New York, Murphy got around to third but was left.

The New Yorks got a man on third and one on first with only one out in the second, but all that Farrell could do was to hit an easy fly to Childs and Rusie sent a liner right into McGarr's hands.

After Burkett and McKean had gone out in the third Ewing got to second on errors of Murphy and Farrell and Tebeau first on balls, but Ewing was thrown out by Farrell trying to steal third. In New York's half Davis got to first on balls. Doyle hit to McGarr, who threw to Childs. "Patsy," to the astonishment of all, muffed the ball and spoiled a double play. But it was not a disastrous play as Van Haltron and Ward were easily retired.

In the fifth inning Cuppy fled out to Van Haltron and then Childs got his base on balls. Burkett followed with a line drive for a base to left. McKean singled to left and on Burke's fumble Childs scored. Ewing fouled out to Davis. Davis fled out to Doyle. The New Yorks tied the score in their half of the inning. Rusie led off with a safe hit past McKean, but Murphy forced him out at second, McKean to Childs. Davis sent a line drive over Tebeau's head for two bases, and by great sprinting, Murphy scoring and so surprising Tebeau that he stood like one paralyzed and did not attempt to throw the ball to the plate. Cuppy fled down and retired Doyle and Van Haltron on easy flies. The seventh inning was a lively one. Farrell made a good catch of Cuppy's fly, Childs got his base on balls and then Burke muffed Burkett's line drive. McKean forced Burkett at second, Childs reaching third. McKean stole second and Rusie purposely gave Ewing his base on balls, preferring to take chances on Tebeau. Patsy knocked a slow grounder to Doyle and went out leaving the bases filled.

The Giants took the lead in the eighth. Doyle fled out to Childs. Ewing made a magnificent running catch of Van Haltron's drive, which looked good for a home run. Ward got to first base on balls and scored on Tiernan's corking three-bagger to left center. Burke was retired, McGarr to Tebeau.

Capt. Tebeau sent Tebeau to the bat in the ninth in place of Cuppy. He went out, Davis to Doyle. Ward and Doyle took care of Childs and Murphy and Doyle of Burkett.

MORNING GAME.

Chicago 12-Philadelphia 4.

Philadelphia, May 30.—The home team played very yellow ball in this morning's game. This together with their inability to solve McGill's delivery, tells the story of the game. Haddock started in to pitch for the Phillies, but was relieved at the beginning of the fourth inning. Callahan took his place. Delehanty was injured in a collision with Allen in the fifth inning, Kelly going to left field.

wick was one of the first three from the start, and went to the front at the head of the stretch and kept her lead without being touched by whip or spur, winning very easily by nearly two lengths. A Hampden Park Meeting.

Springfield, Mass., May 30.—For the first time in twenty-five years, the Hampden Park association has voted to hold no trotting and pacing races this year. The action is the result of the raids made on the pool sellers last year, and which cases are still pending in court. The directors of the association do not believe that they can make the races pay without pool selling.

A Stormy Session.

New York, May 30.—It seems that it was somewhat of a stormy session that the stewards of the jockey club had with the representatives of the Brighton beach, Saratoga and Chicago tracks on Monday night. The first reports were meager, but today it became known that Ed Corrigan, who had been present at the meeting as the representative of his Hawthorne track at Chicago, had let out a roar against the western turf congress as loud as if he had been a veritable bull of Bashan. Corrigan had asked the stewards of the jockey club if he would be permitted to establish a foreign book at his race track, provided he took out a license. He was politely informed that that was a matter which he must discuss with the western turf congress. He was told that the jockey club, as the representatives of the east, was under an agreement with the turf congress as the representative of the west, that the one should not interfere with the licensing of tracks in the other's domain beyond the fact that all licensed tracks must race under jockey club rules.

"Who represents the west?" roared Corrigan. "You say the western turf congress does. Why, those wenchers don't represent anything. If you want proper representatives of the western turf you had better come to Washington park or Hawthorne and we do not belong to the turf congress."

The stewards insisted, however, that Corrigan must make his application for a license to the turf congress and must there obtain whatever information he desired regarding his foreign book.

"As a matter of fact," President John Hunter said this evening, "the western turf congress cannot give its permission to Corrigan to run a foreign book without breaking its covenant with the jockey club. We have agreed to a certain set of rules and these rules forbid a foreign book. Still the matter may yet be arranged satisfactorily."

Sporting men were betting around town tonight that Corrigan, who is a born fighter, will have a foreign book, license or no license, turf congress or no congress.

Washington, May 30.—G. R. Tompkins, secretary of the Old Dominion Jockey club, speaking of the action taken by the stewards at the Gravesend track today in revoking the license of his club for allowing a foreign book to be made at their track, said the Old Dominion Jockey club had concluded that their interests would be best served by the aid of foreign books, and at 10 o'clock this morning, before racing began, sent in their resignations. This action, he said, would not cause any of the stables to leave the track.

Latonia Races.

Cincinnati, May 30.—The greatest day that Latonia has ever had fell on this, Decoration day. Ten thousand spectators were present. The sky was cloudy but the track was in good condition. The Decoration handicap was the event of the day and the best race ever seen here. Ida Pickwick, who won this stake two years ago, came to the post again today and the same rider who guided her to victory then brought her in a second time in the best time ever made equaling the world's record for the distance. Ida Pickwick covered the mile and three-sixteenths in 1:59 3-4, breaking the track record by half a second and equaling the records made by Rudolph at Washington park in July, 1893; Lorenzo at Garfield park in August, 1893. But Ida Pickwick's performance was deserving of more credit than either of these others. She won easily, almost in a canter, carrying top weight, 120 pounds, while Rudolph carried 107 and Lorenzo 104 when they established the record. Ida Pick-
